DECEMBER 2017

PRINCIPAL'S DESK

Dear Christites,

I am aware that I am rare. Who wants to be plain when you can be unique?
Helena Bonham Carter

Every student is unique in his or her strength and calibre, and it is the job of the teacher to foster the highly individualized learning response of the student.

We believe that every learner is unique and special and that one has the ability to learn one's own way. As educators we understand our responsibility to nurture and develop every learner and to prepare him/her for life. A well chalked out curricular and co-curricular programme enables the students to attain their full potential and they develop sound work habits. The curriculum continues to be regularly reviewed to ensure that it keeps meeting the needs of our learners. It contains the acquisition of knowledge and understanding, ideas for critical thinking and inculcates problem solving abilities in all students attending our school. As Christites, our uniqueness, our individuality and our life experience mould us into fascinating persons.

We strongly believe in the importance of teachers, parents and administration collaborating and communicating with each other openly and frequently. We continually improve the quality of tools of communication, giving the parents access to an interactive website where they retrieve pertinent information about their children's academic and other achievements.

You are encouraged to regularly check our website and read about our exciting academic and co-curricular activities. We look forward to serving you and your children over the coming years. We pride ourselves in helping them grow and develop into sensitive and responsible citizens of the future world.

God Bless you all.....

EDITORIAL

The growing popularity of computer, video games and television has influenced the children and that makes the children very inactive in their life. The time spent with these things could be spent in some physical activities. Parents need to be role models for their children. If the parents are very active, the children are likely to be more active early on and will stay active for the rest of their life.

The importance of sports in the life of a young student is vital and goes much further than the basic objective that it instils lessons that are essential in the life of a student. Sports play a pivotal role in the makeup of a young person, especially in the middle school and high school years. An active student tends to be much more mature and mentally developed. Where else can a young, impressionable young person learn values like discipline, responsibility, self-confidence, sacrifice, and resourcefulness?

Sports play a great role in everyone's busy life especially that of a young student. Sports eliminate mental tension. Education is incomplete without sports. Everyone needs to be coaxed into some sporting activities at least for a short time every day. They are necessary because they bring physical and mental fitness to the person. In order to live relaxed and comfortable life, one needs a sound mind and a sound body. Education is very necessary and rise high in life with a name, fame and money. In the same way sporting activities lets one to enjoy that life for a longer period.

In Christ we motivate our students to participate in a number of sports activities as they contribute their overall and integral development.

COUNSELLOR SPEAKS...

Parents and teachers often make the mistake of harping on and on about goals, focus, determination, commitment, hard work and other boring jargon. That might be exactly what is necessary but there's a better side to life to be shown. Young kids need to know how education can make life awesome. Exams should be seen as challenges rather than problems. Think about how learning should ideally be fun, not stressful. Jot your thoughts down on a note and give it to someone who is reeling under the stress of exams and tests. A little encouragement can go a long way in changing someone's perspective of life.

- 1) In life, NO ONE and NOTHING will help you until you start helping YOURSELF.
- 2) Every problem might not have a solution right now, but don't forget that but every solution was once a problem.
- 3) It is true that experience is one of life's best teachers. But if you don't study you will probably never get any experience in the first place.
- 4) In real life, there is no such thing as second place. Either you are a winner, or you're not.
- 5) Listen to your teachers when they tell you WHAT to do. But more importantly, think about it later and ask yourself WHY they told you to do it.

CHRISTO FACTION: An Awesome and Educational Camp

I take great pride in stating that the whole team of Christ School motivated and empowered its students to be life learners, critical thinkers and productive members of the fast changing global society.

Through this camp the school provided the students with an atmosphere for multifaceted development, where they were encouraged to channelize their potential in pursuit of excellence. This camp was a positive break from everyday academics; it was a lesson related to life and the skill of living. The facilities provided by the school were up to the mark. Food was awesome and full of nutrition. I Congratulate the whole Christ family, for providing our children with whatever is needed for them to grow into creative and capable human beings.

- Mrs. Anamika Jain

Mother of Paridhi Jain Std. IA

Christ School organized an overnight camp for the students. Camp was planned with a mixture of dance, fun and games which filled it with thrill and excitement. The teachers participated enthusiastically along with the students and got to know them well. The exercise was a help towards molding them into responsive citizens of the future.

Camping offers the student an opportunity to be independent. Although some of them did not know what to expect, and were skeptical about it, at the end, all fears turned into a broad smile when we meet with our children again and they shared their experience with us.
